Lori is currently our high school library paraprofessional. She has been on the negotiation team for many years. That position – being torn between a Board holding a stubborn attitude and employees complaining of nothing getting done can be stressful, but Lori has handled it with patience and integrity. Lori is also an EMT with Remer Area Ambulance Service as a volunteer. She is a training officer in that organization, so every month must come up with creative ways to train the crew on life-saving measures. Just this summer she was the first one on scene of a multi-car, multiple injury accident. Her leadership in that scene alone saved lives.
